The Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS), Arizona's state Medicaid agency, launched its Whole Person Care Initiative to focus on the social factors that have an impact on individual health and well-being, such as housing, employment, criminal justice, non-emergency transportation, and home and community-based services interventions. As part of the Whole Person Care Initiative strategy, AHCCCS partnered with Health Current to develop a technology solution that can support providers, health plans, community-based organizations (CBOs) and community stakeholders in meeting the healthcare and social-economic needs of Arizonans.

Health Current teamed with AHCCCS and, in collaboration with 2-1-1 Arizona (Solari), to implement a single, statewide closed loop referral system to address social determinants of health (SDOH) needs in Arizona. This new technology platform is designed to connect healthcare and community service providers to streamline the referral process, foster easier access to vital services and provide confirmation when social services are delivered.
